

I have recently been informed of a possible increase of calling rates, especially when using prepaid calling cards. I ask that you think about all of the military personnel serving overseas (many of whom have foreign mobile phones) and their family members or loved ones who are still in the United States. An increase in charges and fees will decrease the chances of communications between these people. Please keep this in mind as part of your consideration.